The Science Express Biodiversity Special (SEBS), is a special train and an innovative exhibition on wheels. The train aims to create awareness amongst the masses, particularly students, about the rich variety of wildlife and plant species in India. It also highlights the importance of their conservation. It has been travelling across India since 2007. It initially ran under the same ' Science Express'. In 2012, it was renamed as 'Science Express Biodiversity Special'. The coaches of the SEBS are exclusively dedicated to showcasing the unique plant and species spread across the various regions of India through the variety of interactive exhibits, short films and videos. The remaining coaches have interesting and informative exhibits on issues related to the environment. A team of well-trained youngsters remain on-board to assist the visitors and answer their queries.
