Question No. 125

Type the following passage with font face : ‘Times New Roman’ and font size : ‘12’ :

10

Egg

Eggs are very good source of inexpensive, high quality protein. More than half of the protein of an egg is found in egg white along with VIT B2 and lower amounts of fat than the yolk. Eggs are rich sources of selenium, VIT D, B6, B12 and minerals such as zinc, iron and copper. Egg yolks contain more calories and fat than the whites. * They are a source of fat soluble VIT A, D, E and K and lecithin — the compound that enables emulsification in recipes such as hollandaise or mayonnaise.

Some brands of egg now contain omega-3 fatty acids, depending on what the chickens have been fed. Eggs are regarded a 'complete' source of protein as they contain all nine essential amino acids; which we cannot synthesize in our bodies and must obtain from our diet.

One medium boiled egg contains 84 calories, 8.3 g protein, 5.7 g fat and 1.6 g saturated fat.

A study published in Pediatrics magazine has suggested that giving young children just one egg a day for six months, alongside a diet with reduced sugar-sweetened foods, may help them achieve a healthy height and prevent stunting.

[Eggs are a useful source of VIT D which helps to protect bones, preventing osteoporosis and rickets.]
