Among all the gifts you can give a child, there is none more conducive to his present and future happiness and content, none more likely to add richness to his life, than books. Not a book, but the habit of reading. Give him the habit of reading and you have done something for which he may be thankful all his days. Books should be the daily companions of a child's life. And they ought not to be linked too closely with the school. You don't want to create the idea that reading a book is a task, a lesson. It's the fun, the good time he can get out of reading that needs to be emphasized. You want to make him enjoy reading so that reading will become a treasured part of his daily life and there is nothing difficult about this.

Questions :

- 46. What can add to the richness of a child's life ?
- 47. Why shouldn't books be linked too closely to the school ?
- 48. What aspects should be emphasized while reading ?
- 49. When will reading become a treasured part of a child's daily life ?
- 50. Give a word from the passage which means : "Valuable".
